Farm to Market Hog Deads at St. Paul Decline in June

Hog deaths between farm and market in Minnesota dropped sharply in June as a result of an industry wide educational campaign sponsored by Livestock Conservation, Inc. A study at South St. Paul by D. P. Mossberg, L. C. regional manager revealed that deads on arrival in June dropped from an average of 2.8 to a new low of 1.8 per thousand hogs. This amounts to a saving of approximately nine tons of pork valued at over $6,000.

June has traditionally had the highest ratio of deads to total receipts over the years. Early season hot weather and high humidity plus lack of proper safeguards are the accepted causes.

It is assumed that interior hog markets in Minnesota experienced the same reduction evident at St. Paul, since the loss reduction campaign was state wide, although only St. Paul records were studied. If this is true, the net saving for the state would be at least twice as large as the $6,000 figure quoted for St. Paul.

USDA Conducting Survey on Lamb, Mutton Marketing

Basic information on distribution and consumption of lamb and mutton will be gathered by the USDA at the request of sheep producer organizations.

A questionnaire was mailed out this week to obtain volume data on shipments of lamb and mutton from packinghouses to states of destination in 1954. This will be made available to producer and processor groups to help them plan improved merchandising and promotional programs.
